

We are

DIMOCK MATTHEWS.

And we're here to help you.

About Us

With a shared passion for helping people facing difficult odds, our complementary legal advocacy skills and experiences provide professionals facing high-stakes situations with a distinct competitive advantage.

We are intentionally selective and represents only a few clients at a time. This enables the firm to provide professionals with the dedicated, responsive service they need.

Whether you are facing a DUI charge, a divorce, an ethical complaint, or another daunting legal issue, you have the right to attentive and effective representation and the peace of mind that comes with having excellent lawyers at your side.

Why Choose Us?

Are you thinking through questions like:

- Should I hire a DUI lawyer?
- My career is in jeopardy, what should I do?
- I'm getting a divorce. What does custody look like?

We can help you! With strategic thinking, diverse experience, and a meticulous dedicated approach, the lawyers at Dimock Matthews will advocate for the best outcome for you.

Our Practice Areas

DUI Defense/Criminal Defense

Should you hire a DUI attorney? Yes. The sooner the better. G Matthews is a former prosecutor who handled hundreds of DUIs. The lowest DUI conviction rate belongs to people who hire experienced DUI lawyers. Let Dimock Matthews LLC advocate for you and get you the best possible outcome in your case.

Family Law Advising & Mediation

Have a game plan to protect your children and hard-earned assets before you initiate a divorce or marriage. Let the lawyers at Dimock Matthews LLC tell you what you are entitled to and how best to protect yourself and your family. Approach your situation with confidence and clarity, save money and stress, and achieve the best possible resolution.

Employment Discrimination & Civil Rights

When your career is at stake, you need understanding and effective advocates with experience helping professionals navigate career-threatening situations.

G Matthews

G is one of the most dynamic litigators in Colorado. G has gone to verdict in more than 40 civil and criminal trials. He started his legal career practicing complex civil litigation, representing multiple Fortune 500 companies, and working with some of the most notable and respected advocates in the Colorado legal community. During that time, G learned an exacting approach to analyzing and solving clients' issues. He represented clients on both sides of civil litigation matters, suing and defending major corporations in employment law, products liability, and premises liability cases.

Eager for more trial experience, G went to work for the Denver District Attorney's office where he learned the ins and outs of how people are criminally charged, how prosecutors are persuaded to dismiss cases and give favorable pleas, what techniques result in acquittals at trial, and what mitigation judges consider. He knows how prosecutors and judges think and he uses that knowledge to help people accused of crimes. Most importantly G is fearless in the pursuit of favorable outcomes for his clients.

G has also helped high-profile individuals whose careers and reputations were at stake achieve discreet solutions to complicated private matters, including employment law, attempts to extort funds, and custody.

G last worked at the Colorado Attorney General's office on civil and criminal fraud cases.

G's advocacy skills are unmatched and he and Whiting founded Dimock Matthews LLC to use those skills to fight for professionals facing difficult situations.

Whiting Dimock

Whiting has three decades of experience helping people and organizations solve difficult problems. Her distinguished and diverse 30-year career in the law has included advocacy, negotiation, advising, and mediation. Whiting began her career representing tech and financial services companies in purchase and sale transactions at two different Washington, DC law firms. Next, Whiting worked for an international commercial real estate services company on sales and development of multi-million dollar properties.

Since 2007, Whiting's work has focused on helping lawyers and law students navigate stressful, high-stakes situations. As the dean of students for the University of Colorado Law School, she was the person to see if you were in crisis, were mistreated, or had a problem and didn't know what to do. She brings genuine compassion and empathy, creative problem-solving skills, and a passion for equitable outcomes to every person's problems, regardless of what the person did. This approach contributed to her receiving multiple awards during her years as dean of students at the University of Colorado Law School. In recent years, she has become more expert in trauma-informed support, child, adolescent, and teen challenges and resources, and mediation.

Whiting loves to compete outside of the courtroom. She has completed multiple ironmans, half-ironmans, marathons, and swim-run races, and this endurance sports experience is exemplary of the tireless support she brings to client representation.
